

ASTROLOGY WEATHER UPDATE

January 14, 2013

By Michael Erlewine (Michael@Erlewine.net)

I had to push out a nature photo, just to prove I have not forgotten those of you who like them. I'm still here, and I am not pushing a video, although in all truth I am posting a new link below, which shows the intro and outro (credits) for the new show. But notice, I put it at the end of the blog.

The truth is I have been too busy to update the astrological weather lately, but that weather has been updating me all the same. This recent New Moon (last Friday) was a dud. It never happened as I hoped, but obviously it happened nevertheless, just not as I had anticipated.

It was a case of (it seems) like the New Moon never came, and things out there remain the same. That idea. No rest for the wicked or something like that.

And while I have been too busy to notice, life around me has been out-of-control, to say the least. Friends, family, and not-so-family seem to be going through a lot and not much I can do about it. I like to keep someone who is suffering in mind throughout the day and send them my best wishes. But my wishing you all well has been working overtime as of late, and I can't keep everyone in mind, so my default is a kind of general wish for well-being, you know similar to what the Buddhists offer, "May all beings find happiness and the path to their greater good." That will have to do.

As for the astrology, ouch! We had a bit of a time of vision, for sure, but that has devolved into a much more murky time just now, when many cannot seem to see straight, and obstacles and problems seem to be breaking out all over. As for fireworks, our dreams may be taking a hit just now, as reality sets in, and life probes us a little more deeply, probably allowing us to appreciate our own vulnerabilities whether we like it or not. I wish I could say it will end tomorrow, but that is not likely. We are neither 'fish nor foul' just now, but stuck in what only could be described as a bit of Limbo, which for those lapsed Catholics like myself, involved some suffering, if only that of waiting and not-knowing.

Wish I could be more encouraging, but we will just have to sit this one out. Meanwhile, if you have nothing to do, I added the outro-credits to my video, and scaled it to full HD 1080 output. I have learned a lot, but I still have a long way to go.

Best wishes to all. Now, back to the drawing board, so to speak.

The video intro and outro here:

<http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=KMADB4ou1ic&list=UU3cL8v4fkupc9IRtugPkkWQ&index=1>