

NIGHT OUT
June 21, 2011

By Michael Erlewine (Michael@Erlewine.net)

I know, I know. These very happy Syrphid flies (hover bees) are not like the flowers of yesterday. But they have a beauty all their own in the early morning light and the dew from the night. Like ourselves, they just want to be happy. Looks like they are.

