

THE GREEN BEE
July 7, 2010

By Michael Erlewine (Michael@Erlewine.net)

Taken at Big Rapids, Michigan

This little wasp-like bee is probably a member of the Genus Augochlora, and it looks for all the world like something out of Star Wars or some future place. I include a close-up of the bee so that you can see its long tongue which is used for probing into flowers, like out Milkweeds here.

