Country Weather, San Paku at Barn - Scotts Valley, CA

Notes: This small venue, The Barn, in Rio Nido, Scotts Valley, is the home of a number of Lee Conklin's better pieces, in particular if we consider his post Fillmore posters. This and another from The Barn, the poster that Conklin calls the "Earwig" are two of his best works. I am waiting for one of you scholars who live out that way to write something definitive about this particular venue. - Michael Erlewine

Colored Ink Drawing by Lee Conklin

Notes: Colored ink drawing, SIGNED, on sketchbook paper, drawn in 1971 & removed from a sketchbook of Lee's. Lee Conklin is the best kept secret in Psychedelic Art... a naive artist, an outsider artist... a generally hallucinogenic artist. His outstanding posters for Bill Graham's Fillmore Auditorium gain in stature every year.. You may remember his great album cover for the 1st Santana album.. which was originally BG 134, a Santana & Grateful Dead poster of an African woman & a Lion's head?? Though not as prolific as some of the other poster artists [due to years working outside the field], he has been on a tear for the last 10 years.. His early 60s & 70s pieces are increasingly hard to find, so this is a good chance to own a piece fairly cheaply. Anyway... it's a nice psychedelic-abstract, a style/vernacular/sub-genre of Lee's that is not as well known as his figurative or landscape drawings. -- Jacaeber Kastor
