

DREAMS JUST NOW

March 21, 2011

By Michael Erlewine (Michael@Erlewine.net)

Venus Conjunct Neptune

There are a number of indications for strong dreams during this time now and the approaching Venus Conjunct Neptune is one of them and the recent Moon Conjunct Saturn another.

Not all dreams are 'dreamy'. Some are nightmares or close to it and there may be many of them at this time like: one after another and night after night. This is where some mind training practice helps, the ability to just ignore the content and focus on the nature of the dream that it is just a dream. If we take them seriously is when they become serious. These particular dreams now are just superficial and mean little to nothing. Nothing to worry about.

Just my two cents about dreams now.

